

Life at Euler Hermes....

Attracting and keeping talented employees is vital to our success. That's why when you join Euler Hermes you will already have gone through a rigorous selection process with a number of our key people to make certain that you are the right person for our organisation.

You will be joining a Company that has been in business since 1918 and that has since grown and evolved to be part of the largest and best credit management solutions group in the world. We have achieved this through the professionalism and expertise of our people and the quality of our management and leadership.

You will get to know all about the Euler Hermes Group as part of your induction which starts at the point we offer you a job and continues for the first few months. As part of this process you will have the opportunity to meet with colleagues and clients to really understand how we do business and will quickly see that our customers are at the heart of everything we do.

One Canada Square will be your home on the days you are in the office. This is a prestigious London landmark in which we occupy two floors of premium office space. Here you will experience a collaborative team environment working alongside your fellow professionals. No two days are the same but typically you can expect your work to be intellectually stimulating and challenging.

To ensure you keep pace with change, you will have your training and development needs assessed twice a year and you will have access to development activities that underpin your continuous professional development. Where appropriate, we will support any further education that may be required and will also reimburse membership fees of your professional body.

You will also be part of Allianz, a leading and highly regarded general insurer in the UK market, and part of one of the largest financial institutions in the world, the Allianz Group. Our employees are invited to benefit from Allianz training and development institutions and programs to broaden their skills and competencies. Allianz offers exciting training and development opportunities around the globe including international programs as well as functional and specialist training and development programs through regional and functional academies.

In terms of financial reward, we offer an attractive salary package that includes a non contributory pension, bonus, share incentive plan, and recognition awards. We also understand the need for a healthy work life balance with many of our employees taking advantage of formal and informal flexible working arrangements. There is also an interest free season ticket loan to help you spread the cost of your annual commute. All this, coupled with an active Sports & Social Club and a variety of specially negotiated incentives and discounts, combine to offer a comprehensive total reward package.

If life at Euler Hermes appeals to you and you are looking for the next step on your career path, we would be delighted to hear from you.

Fiona Hanoman
Head of Human Resources
Euler Hermes UK